Notification of Court Booking

- The person booking the court will receive an automatic e.mail notifying that a Court has been booked. It is suggested that you then notify your playing partner that the booking is confirmed.
- It is worth Members and Visitors checking the Court booking system on a regular basis to see if any previously booked courts have been released and available.

Late-Cancellation and No Show policy:

- When unable to play, Members and Visitors should cancel their booking as soon as possible to enable the courts to be used by others.
- There are no cancellation charges for late cancellation of courts for Full Members, but failure by Members to release unwanted courts and any 'no shows' will result in an initial warning, with all subsequent breaches resulting in Members being blocked from booking courts for a 1 week period
- For Social Members or Visitors using the Pay and Play option, when a court booking is cancelled with less than 24 hours notice, the full cost of the court will be charged and no refund given. If, however, the court is cancelled with more than 24 hours notice, there will be a refund available.
